it's like turning tar into gas or water to wine. the things that technology are capable of now are more impressive than we can even guess. the cost of burning trash is un-equivalent to the benefits. i have found a way to think of things. air and light is the motto of my local fire station. the best thing to imagine is to start with two elements that are the most simple to begin some kind of abstract formula. what the public is afraid of are the contaminants in the solutions that are presented after and during and even before the spark of air and light. so let me explain in detail. it's a lot like a nuclear bomb only in reverse. instead of destroying elements we are putting them together. but more important than a super-spontaneous collision we are separating the elements for recycling and purification. the muffler and the past catalytic converters in a car is one example of how the process is somewhat related to one another. the carburetor was invented by karl benz in 1885 the code name for a process for burning trash is better for it. don't touch that it's hot! What we are using is an modified carburetor that actually separates the different elements in inside the moisture pressure and different composites that make up all of the properties of fire when the trash is burned to reclaim the mediums. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown

6 platform computing that measures instance rather than current cloud computing statistical virtual memory stacking easy to ask but i can remember christmas shopping with my parents and some times it really wasn't a good year when this situation happened? Your in a store grabbing a gift just because it's another gift. They say that what really makes something worth giving is the thought. Complicated things come in small packages. But big things can seem so far away at any given time. In a frenzy people cannot see the frenzy some times. Have you ever seen a squad of 5 year old play soccer? Every one chases the ball. If only there was a better way to cloud compute the answers of inventions? Then my friends i would be useless and only if that scenario was so perfect. I think that to spawn two inventions on one deposition would be point less. To give birth to imperfection is to look away from the frenzy. Platform computing that measures instance rather than current. A dream always seems brighter when you your self imagine the possibilities. Cloud stat memory stacking only works when the sorting is all copacetic stack virtual memory and ram to match the four plus chips that are now in progress cloud computation with real analogies to relate each and every real could form with a computational analogy. 8 negative microwave technology and format making cold things stay cold and the same ovens that make things work for warmth can make things stay cold for a while after that. so after all their is cold fusion. the thought is that the technology that is available to consumers that makes things warm can make things cold. just softly and moderation is what we need to study for a while... but don't worry nothing pound and weight can't fix. the world needs things cold. the world needs things cold for a longer time. another way to find a need where there is no need yet. so stay tuned and keep your eyes peeled for an after market method that not only bartenders can use. to ramble on about the needs and uses would be pointless at this time. to really see a carefully practice is one of estimation. some times people really like things cold. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown

18 technology of the relations between files long data why can't we all just get along christopher g. brown long data concept i believe that a universal computer file that will put the hard efforts and intelligence of today to work tomorrow. this is not only the best way to understand it's going to be the best way to do business while still competing in a hard to open market. the first hand is the image type of code vector or bitmap then to choose an option that would make it into multiply the extension into a friendlier version or should i say alternate file type. if you tag the file with x mp copyright data for example and make it more elaborate into a file that is something more than only an image map then the data attached makes it easier to contemplate the context. third what if the technology of the relations between files is so close that there were ultimately no changes made when opening this file type in a program unless the program that was chosen to manage the file actually kept the data image map as well as a long history of previous things such as revisions and other instances like undo data and authors date and other things to pass along the data that may make information archaeologists study how to make more money and or why there was a loss of money. to summarize what i'm thinking of is to make files that have such close code and scripts as well as alternate information added that could be readable by things like for example internet browsers or phone apps. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown work faster. a few questions and what to expect - step one a nano motor the need for two apps to transition through one another is really something adobe systems is good at but to transform the transition is an ability that nearly escapes us all. to me this is what os hierarchy and the program protocol relate to. my current problem is to relate to what i'm doing. trying to work faster. so this means really that i'm using more than one program at a time my question is this can the computer {hardware or software} conduct two or more ions from a micro spark generator and then somehow keep those two ions making switches go off and on while not colliding and at the same time act as a nerve to control the computer as a whole to essentially make a multi-ion and eventually a multiplying micro spark generator the way that this diagram demonstrates in an abstract transition. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown

24 theoretical business analytic s theoretical business analytic s to speak about ones past is sad at times. but in the professional sense to reminisce is important. the variables must contain a few transitional attempts of experimentation and study. the most we can do is realize there are peaks and valleys in every thing. so my concept is to measure the weight of the experiment mission to the weight of the shelf life of a product or service and then the peak of the appreciation. there are so many factors to every thing but i am going to summarize the values into abstract form. why something is great is labeled as glory in generasism so to me that is all opinion and at times facts of the case at hand. what made it great is the question. the same goes for why it went bad and when it went bad why the things made it fall from popularity may at times be opinion or merely poetical justice. what goes up must come down. to translate the simple things in business are always from intuition. to hire people with positive ethical spirit and attitude is the most important thing to start with. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown molecular orbitals (1928) valence shell electron pair repulsion theory (1958) and all the advanced methods of quantum chemistry. from wikipedia the free encyclopedia 216 is the natural number following 215 and preceding 217. since $216 = 33 + 43 + 53 = 63$ it is the smallest cube that's also the sum of three cubes (plato was among the first to notice this and mentioned it in book viii of republic). it is also the sum of a twin prime ($107 + 109$). but since there is no way to express it as the sum of the proper divisors of any other integer it is an untouchable number. this multiplicative magic square has magic constant 216. in base 10 it is a harsh-ad number. there are 216 fixed hexominoes the polynomials made from 6 squares. 216 is a friedman number copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown the mid- to late-1980s that dj and electronic musicians in chicago found a use for the machine in the context of the newly developing house music genre. in the early 90's as new acid styles emerged the tb-303 was often overdrive producing a harsher sound. examples of this technique include hard floor's 1992 ep acperience and interlect 3000's 1993 ep volcano. the well-known acid sound is typically produced by playing a repeating note pattern on the tb-303 while altering the filter's cutoff frequency resonance and envelope modulation. the tb-303's accent control modifies a note's volume filter resonance and envelope modulation allowing further variations in timbre. a distortion effect either by using a guitar effects pedal or over driving the input of an audio mixer is commonly used to give the tb-303 a denser noisier timbre as the resulting sound is much richer in harmonics. the head designer of the tb-303 tadao kikimoto was also responsible for leading design of the tr-909 drum machine. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown

68 criminally insane schizophrenia criminally schizophrenic what is the issue with virile contributors and identity theft... to compose why this is important in a short is to say that the specific context is technology. why a person will gain access to a log in and cause either unsafe terms or to steal a sum of information. my guess is that people have leaped into a mental illness and somehow conceited to the possible chance that what they are doing is going to result in gain. for example some person steals money through a password or online portal may be they even have a stance on making and creating virus experiments to cause harm and detrimental responses to a certain brand or person my understanding is that these things are the result of a criminally insane scheme of mild or construed schizophrenia.

143 exit comp rules that apply with each process data is the progress of format in my opinion. the greatest thing to happen to anything is to negate the format itself. why do people make things in side a box of any sort. this is maddening to myself. at this point in history the dvd is still popular only because the use of that decoder and the dvd player itself is the only reason. we have essentially been forced into it. take it or leave it type of "mods-i pita". the way to promote everything is to make it plain and simple. the publishing schema as we know it for example doesn't need a box. when you put it in only one format it is essentially only one format so without being rhetorical keep it out of the box and into as many decipherable languages (so to speak) as possible. when you say for example this is paper - that itself is a means. how about something that is free like the way air is for example hey can you download that movie with paper through the air not at this moment but for example what about a universal and translatable script that will encode and decode music books movies gps info and for the matter itself data! It's my idea to promote data not necessarily the format to put the data inside with a note-able unit of measurement that is described only as .25. to process code with measurement with a use of ssd and scripting into a form of data. copyright (c) patent pending insulin therapy type 1 diabetes is typically treated with a combinations of regular and nph insulin or synthetic insulin analogs. when insulin is used in type 2 diabetes a long-acting formulation is usually added initially while continuing oral medications.[29] doses of insulin are then increased to effect.[29] <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/diabetic> 202 immune systemic anti psychotics anti-psychotic medicine to magistrate through the auto immune system anti psychotic medicine to magistrate through the auto immune system physiological the causes of bipolar disorder have yet to be fully uncovered but there is strong evidence that brain structure anomalies play a role. abnormalities in the structure and/or function of certain brain circuits could underlie bipolar. meta-analyses of structural mri studies in bipolar disorder report an increase in the volume of the lateral ventricles globus pallidus and increase in the rates of deep white matter hyper intensities.[28][29] [30] functional mri findings suggest that abnormal modulation between ventral prefrontal and limbic regions especially the amygdala likely contribute to poor emotional regulation and mood symptoms.[31] according to the "kindling" hypothesis when people who are genetically predisposed toward bipolar disorder experience stressful events the stress threshold at which mood changes occur becomes progressively lower until the episodes eventually start (and recur) spontaneously. there is evidence of hypothalami-pituitary-adrenal axis (hpa axis) abnormalities in bipolar disorder due to stress.[32][33][34]

203 emergency sos satellite system based on cell phone satellite commonly used description for the international morse code distress signal (). this distress signal was first adopted by the german government in radio regulations effective april 1 1905 and became the worldwide standard under the second international radio telegraphic convention which was signed on november 3 1906 and became effective on july 1 1908. Sos remained the maritime radio distress signal until 1999 when it was replaced by the global maritime distress safety system. [1] (with this new system in place it became illegal for a ship to signal that she is in distress in morse code. citation needed)) sos is still recognized as a visual distress signal.[2] from the beginning the sos distress signal has really consisted of a continuous sequence of three-ditz/three-dash/three-ditz all run together without letter spacing. in international morse code three ditz form the letter s and three dash make the letter o so "sos" became an easy way to remember the order of the ditz and dash. in modern terminology sos is a morse "procedural

Sos is the only 9-element signal in morse code making it more easily recognizable as no other symbol uses more than 8 elements. copyright (c) patent pending 2012-2018 christopher gabriel brown

407 alternate size spinning magnetic electric generator lord carpenters infinite motion how to put it all together a spinning top is very similar to something you'd like to have fun and stare at forever. it was brought to my attention that there is a need for such a thing to run/turn forever. the issue is a few things also sometimes called the same thing with force you can have propulsion from energy. all you do is make an object like a toy top and make it magnet filled. the way you move the top in order to obtain infinite motion is to push and force it by electronic pulses or such as a resistant free or even a non free method. the turbine is somewhat of an infinite motor but the problem is that like the jet there are repercussions to such a demand of fuel or energy

<https://cri-one.com/buyin c/a/capture407vent/image .png>

supply in order to run this. rechargeable batteries are a start. even a semi conductor or micro processor needs to be upgraded and cleaned due to wear and exhaustion of medium and material used. the question is how can an object of any kind actually withstand or even be made to withstand infinite motion. satellites crash all the time. i realize i am referring to many inventions. but if you put them all together you may have a more reliable method of power generation. so what i'm getting at is it's possible to build a long life engine or generator but the term is relative. in due course of time that may change but at the moment people just want to be rocket scientists instead. so what you do for example is make a sphere that is (or doesn't have to be) more flat than a plane. place two or more batteries in side (for less resistance) have that current making power. second you place a similar sphere outside the object. that is how all motion is created. cell and cell then multiply. the dual chip processor is very similar. to control the motion you control the correct current needed. the infinite motion inside the first sphere is made by all the rest of the batteries recharging the original battery inside. the only thing missing is the method to recharge a battery with the least amount of connections for less resistance for more force. like a radio wave that actually can send power with out touching the object like a magnet. you may also control the first object by radio waves i bet it would be good for train engines it's a lot like how the earth moves. thanks for the slow-roll-by!
